AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

For the Cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

Of all the numerous diseases extant, and some of them valuable for the cards of quackery complaints, nothing has ever been found within the pale equal to in its effects with this Preparation. Of its cure in numerous cases of all times in all climates of the inhabitants of this and other countries, we may say fearlessly, that we will only do it is pleased to take a perfectly safe in accordance with the directions. We do not advertise for the information of those that I owe to tell what it does when it is not. Families will have known its value will not be without it, and if not, only use, they are secure from the dangerous consequences of Coughs and Colds of every name and nature.

The Rhode Island Mechanics Institute was awarded to this pre-eminent by the Board of Judges in September 1847, and to the World's Fair of the three great Industries of Art in this country, also the Diploma of the Gold Institute, which has been given to this Cherry Pectoral by their Governors in consideration of its extraordinary excellence and usefulness in curing a returns of the Lungs and Throat.

Read the following opinion recently had on the Indian expedition of the eminent Physicians of the Fort and City of ST. JOHNS, May 6, 1851.

Dr. J. C. Ayer—

Five years trial of your CHERRY PECTORAL in my practice, has proven what I claimed from its composition it must be true, that it cures the colds and coughs to which we, in this section, are peculiarly liable.

The Indian has not yet been discovered, nor do I know how a better remedy can be made for the disease of the Throat and Lungs.

J. J. BURTON, M. D. F. R. S.

See what it has done on a Master Constable, not only in the following cases, but in the small matter:

SOREL, Jan. 24th, 1851

Dr. Ayer—In the month of July last I was attacked by violent Bronchitis, in the middle of California. I obtained your Pectoral in hope of procuring benefit from a change of climate and diet. My Bronchitis ceased, but was followed by a severe cough—but much worse. I then started for home, and soon received on board from the steamer. My cough still grew worse, and when I arrived in New York I was at once marked by the physicians as a victim of consumption. I must confess that I saw no favorable symptoms to doubt what my friends all believed. At this time I procured your truly invaluable medicine with little expectation of deriving any benefit from it—but was induced to use it. Since then I have not ceased it my family to use it, and, thank God, I am now in the enjoyment of perfect health, and feel delighted in this manner of expressing my gratitude for the restored health of your Cherry Pectoral.

Yours truly, WILLIAM W. SMITH.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 12, 1848.

DEAR SIR: Feeling that I have been spared from a premature grave, through your instrumentality, by the timely use of your CHERRY PECTORAL, I will take the liberty to express to you my gratitude.

After all the alarming symptoms of Consumption had rendered me too low to leave me anything like hope, when you kindly brought me a bottle of your "Pectoral." It relieved me of my immediate distress, and now I am so far restored as to enjoy health.

If I will do for others what it has for me, you are at liberty to use this letter as you may see fit.

Sincerely wishing your blessing, I am

Very respectfully yours,

JOHN CLARKE, Rector of St. Peter's Church.

HERE IS YOUR REMEDY!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A MOST MIRACULOUS CURE OF BAD LEGS, AFTER 8 YEARS' SUFFERING.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Galpin, of St. Mary's Street, Weymouth, dated May 15th, 1850.

To Professor Holloway:

SIR—At the age of 18 my wife (who is now 41) unfortunately received a violent cold, which settled in her legs, and ever since that time they have been subject to pain, and greatly inflamed. Her complaint was distressing, and for upwards of eight months together she was entirely confined to her bed and sleepless. Every remedy that medical men advised was tried, but with no effect; her health suffered severely, and the state of her legs was terrible. I had often read your advertisements, and advised her to try your Pills and Ointment, and, as a last resource, after every other remedy had proved useless, she consented to do so. She commenced six weeks ago and sure enough, to relate, is now a good health. Her legs are painless without a sore, and her skin sound and wholesome. Could you have witnessed the sufferings of my wife during the last 8 years, and contrast them with her present enjoyment of health, you would indeed feel delighted in this manner of greatly alleviating the sufferings of fellow creature.

(Signed) WILLIAM GALPIN.

A PERSON 70 YEARS OF AGE CURED OF A BAD LEG, OF THIRTY YEARS' STANDING.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Wm. Abbs, Builder of Golcar, near Huddersfield, dated May 21, 1852.

To Professor Holloway:

SIR,—I suffered for a period of thirty years from a bad leg, the result of two or three different accidents. I was advised by several friends to try a variety of medicines, which I did, but without any benefit, and was induced to believe that mine was a case that would not yield to the power of medicine. I therefore gave up all hopes of ever getting well, and continued to suffer on, until I saw your Pills and Ointment advertised, when I was induced to make a trial of them, and am happy to say that a few weeks' perseverance in their use has completely restored me to health. I am now 70 years of age, and have no hesitation in recommending your Pills and Ointment to all persons afflicted as I was, feeling confident that they will do for them what they have done for me.

I remain, Sir, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM ABBS.

A CURE IN ONE NIGHT.

Extract of a Letter from Mrs. Sarah Turner, of Ironbridge, dated May 11th, 1850.

To Professor Holloway:

SIR,—I was afflicted with a severe attack of Erysipelas in the head, which extended to my eyes, and during the night I was in a state of delirium, and my attendants considered me dying. I had applied to several medical men, but received no benefit, and was induced to try your Pills and Ointment, which I am happy to say, in a few days, completely restored me to health, and I am now strong and well. I consider your Pills and Ointment invaluable, and shall never be without them.

General Scott as a Civilian.

There are very few historical students, we think, who will be disposed to dispute the position that the higher orders of military talent or greatness almost always imply the possession of that touch of comprehensive intellect which is ever the true guarantee of eminent success in the chief posts of the highest civil trusts. History is full of the illustrations of the truth of this—and to name but a few of the instances, the names of Wellington will occur to all. The engineers upon the battle-field has often become the civil governor of the province or country he has conquered—the sword of the soldier is often forthwith exchanged for the pen of the statesman, and the exchange is almost universally been made with eminent success—the civil administration of the General adding lustre to his fame and increasing the catalogue of his services. Nor is it surprising that it should be so—the qualities which make the man eminent in one engrossing sphere—when we consider that it requires the same grasp and order of intellect to originate and to execute the various combinations and details necessary for a successful campaign, which are requisite for the government of a nation. In the country, and in this age, it has been a matter of daily occurrence for civil administration of any kind, from the General Scott as a Civilian.

There are very few historical students, we think, who will be disposed to dispute the position that the higher orders of military talent or greatness almost always imply the possession of that touch of comprehensive intellect which is ever the true guarantee of eminent success in the chief posts of the highest civil trusts. History is full of the illustrations of the truth of this—and to name but a few of the instances, the names of Wellington will occur to all. The engineers upon the battle-field has often become the civil governor of the province or country he has conquered—the sword of the soldier is often forthwith exchanged for the pen of the statesman, and the exchange is almost universally been made with eminent success—the civil administration of the General adding lustre to his fame and increasing the catalogue of his services. Nor is it surprising that it should be so—the qualities which make the man eminent in one engrossing sphere—when we consider that it requires the same grasp and order of intellect to originate and to execute the various combinations and details necessary for a successful campaign, which are requisite for the government of a nation. In the country, and in this age, it has been a matter of daily occurrence for civil administration of any kind, from the nurtured amid the influences of our institutions, will take the form of a military dictatorship.

Gen. Scott, as the conqueror of Mexico, became virtually the civil governor of the country which he had conquered. In the latter capacity it became necessary for him to put forth acts upon the notion of the enemy in the midst of whom he was, on the one hand, and plan upon any attempts on the other; which the soldiers might be prompted to make upon the property, lives and religious observance of the people of the country. That he succeeded in doing this—and that he did it with the utmost humanity and regard for justice and right, is known to all who were in a position to observe his course. His different orders issued immediately after his entrance into the populous Capital at Mexico, will be found to contain an admirable code—and one which evinces the possession of the highest administrative capacity on the part of the general-in-chief. Those orders were carried out by the officers of his appointment, and we venture to assert that never in its history—since the victorious entry of Cortes, three and a quarter centuries before—and the imperial city of the Aztecs seen within its own borders, or that in the whole range of Cortes' native valley, so much of order, and of good government as prevailed during the first two months or three of the second occupation of Mexico, which was closed by the ratification of the treaty of peace.

We believe every writer upon the Mexican War has paid a high compliment to the civil qualifications of Gen. Scott. Most of them are his political opponents, and it is noteworthy that whatever faults such writers have found upon the battle-field, have found far more fault with his splendid management of the different battles than with the administration of the conquered country. Indeed, they have been disposed to extol the latter, while assaulting or attempting to detract from the merits of the former. Among the latter writers is Major J. Stevens, (of Andover, in this State), adjutant-general of the U. S. Engineer Corps, now stationed at Washington. We had occasion some months since to notice Major Stevens' pamphlet, to defend Gen. Scott from certain charges brought against the latter by the friends of several battles in the valley, by a particular friend and superior of Gen. Pillow. Major Stevens is a democrat, and has recently been appointed a major of artillery, a rapid promotion, which is remarkable for that of a subaltern of engineers, and which would not have been made, we presume, but for the high opinion entertained of his services and capacity by his superiors in the corps. Major Stevens, as an engineer officer, has published works upon the battles of Mexico, which have found far more fault with his splendid management of the different battles than with the administration of the conquered country. It is the testimony of a political opponent—but all who know Winfield Scott, and who have seen him in different positions—both as soldier and civilian—know that the testimony is well deserved. With such a man at the head of the government, we shall have one of the most brilliant and beneficent administrations the country has seen since the era of Washington.—[Lowell Courier.

Railroad Up River.

On Monday evening last, there was an earnest and efficient meeting at the Bangor House, of those in favor of the immediate construction of a Railroad up the river to Lincoln. We were unable to attend this meeting, having a previous engagement, and as the account of its proceedings did not reach us in season for our yesterday's paper, we reserved it for our paper of this morning, when we could do the subject greater justice than a few brief lines, to which we must have confined ourselves yesterday.

We make this explanation in order that our position may not be misunderstood or misrepresented. We deem it not less a pleasure than a duty to give our aid to any project which earnest and true men, may deem for the welfare of the city; and we entertain a very strong desire to furnish to our readers, as their right, all projects of improvements which may be started, whether those projects commend themselves strongly to our mind or not.

We are told by good friends, on whom we rely, and in whose judgment we have the fullest confidence, that there is a fair prospect that the railroad from this city to Waterville will be built, and also that to Lincoln. We rejoice in the good prospect that opens for both of these roads. We should rejoice to see both of them constructed. We believe that both of them would increase the prosperity of the city—would awaken a new zeal and enterprise in our people by furnishing new and improved facilities for business. We belong to the affirmative progressive class, in favor of seeing every well meant and reasonable project for improvement succeed. We do not belong to that class of destructives who seek to delay and trip and prevent the success of improvements. We are strongly disposed to give to every man the benefit of the highest and purest motives for his conduct and professions. Thus much in justice to ourselves and in answer to those who think something is to be gained by representing us as hostile to the up river road, since such is not the case, nor begins to be.

From the following statements, which we copy from the Mercury, and, which is substantially an account of the proceedings at the meeting held at the Bangor House, it will be seen that the prospect for the opening of the Lincoln road, at no distant day is of a character to arrest attention, and to demand a thorough investigation. That the road would be of immense advantage in facilitating business on the river and greatly increasing that business, and promoting the growth and improvement of that section of country, must be admitted by all. The estimated cost of the road is small, but is made by a practical man, who appears to understand his business, and who is willing to risk something in confirmation of the correctness of his estimates. Those persons specially interested in the construction of this road, have confidence in the estimates and feel very confident that the facts in the case, justify them in the expectation that the road will soon be built. Well: Bangor energy and skill and capital and credit, can do a great deal when fairly at work, on a substantial basis. It is better not to rush rashly into the construction of two roads, than to proceed gradually to keep along from either, and labor to pile up a few private fortunes without paying any attention to public improvements. By increase strength is acquired, and by just whole some exercise, in like way, of [illegible] ments even if it reaches a little [illegible] the region of hard labor, is better than [illegible] Decay is more likely to come from inaction and rust, than from the wear and attrition of work.

So long as these railroad enterprises are kept on an affirmative position, there is little danger to be apprehended. Then let people ought to take large and liberal views of their position, their prospects, the resources that surround them and the elements of industry, and business which may be pursued. They ought to feel strong to move forward on feasible and profitable enterprises. They ought to be ready to grapple with seeming difficulties which they have the ability to remove.

Where, then, our own personal interests are that by concentrating efforts upon the Waterville road and completing it to the point where will be all the strength for a [illegible] the road to Lincoln, we are [illegible] that there is not present at this time [illegible] two roads simultaneously and [illegible] forward to completion. This is a matter of judgment to be determined by [illegible] willing to see the trial made in good faith on both sides, and we can see no necessity of [illegible] on the part of any [illegible] or the other.

If any man shall be found [illegible] one of these projected enterprises for the purpose of destroying the other, or in consequence and unworthy motives, [illegible] construction of either or both [illegible] should be deemed an enemy to the welfare of the people.

We here give place to [illegible] forced to—

To the Public.

The undersigned, [illegible] the Milford and Lincoln Railroad, in view of the extraordinary assertions [illegible] with respect to the motives which have prompted the enterprise, consider it their duty to submit the following statement to the public. One [illegible] sation made against this [illegible] was started for political effect. [illegible] did not know differ with candor in regards to political matters, and the [illegible] have political objects in view, is entirely true. Another accusation [illegible] prise was not started with a view [illegible] actually carried into execution, but merely to defeat the projected Railroad. We only meet this charge by a complete denial. We have no [illegible] to interfere with those who [illegible] their means in that [illegible] for that am up river to aid [illegible] city with the main stream of [illegible] and prosperity is of the first importance to our interests. [illegible] of the Milford and Lincoln [illegible] tions to the contrary notwithstanding, we believe that it can and will be [illegible].

We have counted the cost, and [illegible] most reasonable expectations of aid are [illegible] finished, the work will [illegible] through.

At any rate, we pledge ourselves to the public to devote our time and [illegible] to its accomplishment.

☞ THE BODY OF A [illegible] WOMAN [illegible] We learn from Mr. David Gove, that on Tuesday evening as he was coming up river in a [illegible] discovered at Hampden the body of a female. He gave notice to [illegible] on the shore, and they took it out and made arrangements for an inquest.

The body proved to be that of Miss Henrietta Freeman, a young woman of about 20 years of age, whose parents reside in Hucksport, and who has been living in the family of a gentleman, whose name is not recollected, at Bangor. Miss Freeman had appeared for a few days to be laboring under some part of aberration of mind, but nothing unusual or alarming was observed about her. On Monday she took tea as usual and walked out, and did not return. There was a small rock grasped in the hand when the body was found. The cause of her death is [illegible] to be [illegible] a young woman of good reputation.

☞ The editor of the Democrat must indulge beforehand in manufacturing bad names for the candidates which the whig party may select for the County officers. The nominations of the Democrat have been made and the issue made of locofocoism in the worst shape—opposition to the Maine Law, and to the Governor who approved it; opposition to fair credit; opposition to Whigs; opposition to the Hamlin Clique; opposition to Free Soilers. Quite an issue, and we go for joining that whole bundle. The initiative has been taken, and we are for going in for giving the whole concern a very handsome licking, any way. If to do this one must lay aside, "squeamishness" why we have only to say, away with squeamishness!

☞ The queen of England has issued a proclamation forbidding out-door religious exercises by the Catholics. They must confine themselves to their private and church worship.

☞ The Bangor Democrat of the present week contains a short paragraph in which it is stated that Gen. Scott hung twenty Irishmen in Mexico for desertion. This is not true. Neighbor, don't you or anybody humbug you with any such falsehood as that, and don't you undertake to mislead your readers with giving them any such statements. A number of men were condemned to death, but the humanity and wise consideration of Gen. Scott saved them all except the leader. Place this matter in the right shape, Mr. Democrat, and not be so unpatriotic as to defame a brave and heroic old General who so gallantly fought the battles of his country.

Announcement for this Evening.

Ordway's Æolians will give another of their very interesting concerts at the City Hall this evening, when they will no doubt bring out a new programme, and in it several very amusing pieces which elsewhere have won great applause. This is the last concert but one according to their advertisement.

☞ It is stated that Commodore Perry will shortly return from the fishing grounds, and immediately start upon the Japan expedition.

☞ Mr. Makin, of New Hampshire, has appointed Thursday, the 11th day of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving in that State.

Milford and Lincoln Railroad.

A large meeting of the friends of this proposed enterprise was held at the Bangor House on Monday evening, comprising many of the most substantial business men on the city. Josiah Stetson was called to the chair, and G. W. Smith was appointed Secretary.

The following estimate of the cost of this road was made by Mr. Cushman, builder of the Penobscot and Baring Railroad and of other roads now exhibited:—Grading, masonry, graveling, &c., completing the road-bed, $1,500 per mile. Iron at $40 per ton, $3,620. Other apparatus, viz: turning track and distributing materials, $814—making the $8,834 per mile, and for the 33 miles, including the distance between Milford and Lincoln, $291,522. For engines, depots, cars, land damages, &c., $47,500—making the total cost of the road in running order, $339,022, or in round numbers, leaving a margin for rise of iron or other unforeseen contingencies, $350,000.

The estimated business of the road is as follows:—It is considered that the number of way and through passengers may be fairly set down as large as it is now over the Oldtown Railroad, which, for the year ending June, 1852, was but a fraction short of 60,000. These, averaging 80 cents each, will give an item of $40,000. Fifty millions of shingles, at 20 cents per M., give $1,000; four millions of clapboards, at $1 per M., $4,000; 20,000 tons of other freight, at $2 per ton, gives $40,000. These items make the estimated receipts $84,000, and this by many of them present acquainted with the up river business is considered a low estimate. In this connection it may be mentioned that the receipts of the up river boats, which have only run about five months, and of Shaw & Billings stages, for the last year, have been about $10,000.

An offer has been made to run the road with daily trains at $22,660 a year. This may be considered rather low, however. Repairs are estimated at $10,000. Interest on $50,000 (estimated cost of the road,) $21,000, making $29,000. This outlay deducted from the estimated receipts, $84,000, gives a net income of $40,600, or more than ten per cent. over and above the regular interest. That the road will yield such a dividend, the friends of the enterprise have not the slightest doubt.

How is the road to be built? On the books of subscription, stock to the amount of $100,000 has been subscribed within a day or two by some of our citizens, the largest subscription being $20,000. At and above Oldtown $60,000 can be raised. $100,000, it is confidently hoped, may be obtained by general subscription through the city, and the other $100,000 may be readily obtained from loans on the road.

If the estimates of this road are low, it must be considered that the grade between Milford and Lincoln is remarkably favorable, nature having more than half done the work herself. It is further to be considered that the building of the road is a cash operation. It is all to be done with money, and not a stop will be taken until it is known where every dollar is to come from. The subscribers especially repudiate the idea of putting the credit of the city into this or any other enterprise. The points which, in the opinion of those interested, commend this road, are—first, that it will benefit property up river; second, that it will benefit property in this city; third, that it will be a paying road; and fourth, that it will be the beginning of a trunk of railway which shall, one day, extend into the Aroostook country.

Messrs. G. K. Jewett, W. H. McCrillis and J. B. Foster were appointed a Committee to ascertain land damages, to obtain subscriptions, and to act generally for the subscribers to behalf of the road until the Company should be organized under the charter.

Messrs. Isaac R. Clark, A. Hayford, Col. Stacey, C. J. Fay of North Lincoln, and Timothy Fuller, of Lincoln, were appointed a Committee to select statistics, to report at a public meeting soon to be called.

A settled conviction pervaded the meeting that the road is needed, and that it will be a good property, and there was manifested an earnest purpose for its immediate prosecution.

Scott Club.

At a meeting of the Scott Club, held in this city, on the evening of August 11th, at the Whig Reading Room, the following Preamble and Resolutions were unanimously adopted and ordered to be published in the Kennebec Journal and the several Whig journals in Kennebec County:

Whereas,—A Democratic Association in the city, styled the "Eagle Club," has caused to be published in the Augusta Age, a statement that members of the Whig party "are accustomed to travel over the interior of this County, buying votes to a large amount upon the election of Gen. Scott,"—and whereas, the said Eagle Club has publicly challenged the Scott Club to stake, "each one hundred to five thousand dollars on the coming Presidential election,"—therefore

Resolved, That to the best of our knowledge and belief the said statement is without foundation, and was devised by some member or members of the Democratic Association as a measure of cowardice for unmanly and dishonorable purposes.

Resolved, That we decline accepting the challenge made by the "Eagle Club" of this city, for the following reasons, viz:

1st—Because a large majority of the members of the Club are mechanics and laboring men, who, as must have been known to the Eagle Club, not only lack the means to accept the said challenge, owing chiefly to the anti-protective policy of the different Democratic Administrations in this country, but who regard the proposition as an insult to their intelligence and their honor.

2d—Because the Scott Club is not a gambling concern, but was organized for the purpose of promoting the success of Whig principles and aiding to secure the election of our candidates by fair and honorable means.

3d—Because we discountenance and condemn the practice of betting upon elections, as tending to fraud and corruption, and because we consider it not less ridiculous and disreputable in any public body, thus openly to combine for the violation of a statute law, and thereby subject its members to a severe penalty for such offense provided.

Resolved, That from having observed from the signs of the times, and from authentic information derived from various sources, we feel encouraged to believe that the whigs of Maine will achieve a glorious victory at the polls on the second day of November next.

PARKER SHELDON, President.
G. M. ATWOOD, Secretary.

☞ The New York Commercial tells an anecdote of Gen. Scott, which shows that the old hero's religion does not consist alone in theory or profession. We quote:

"A well known clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal Church informs us that he was traveling a few years since on board a steamboat, and, as was his wont, at early morn, took out his Bible and read a chapter. He laid the book down, and a gentleman near him took it up, to whom he remarks, 'The best book in the world, sir.' The stranger opened the volume, and responded, 'Yes, sir, the best book in the world,' adding, 'Before I was seven years old I had read it through, and from that time forward I made it my practice to read it through once a year, until I became so immersed in public business that I could not command sufficient time.' The gentleman who said this to our clerical friend was Gen. WINFIELD SCOTT. The reader will not find it difficult to divine whence sprung his proverbial humanity, and his admitted purity of personal and official character."

PRINCIPLES NOT MEN.—The following is the closing passage of a speech made by Hon. Daniel Webster, in Philadelphia, on the first of October, 1844:

"When great principles of government are at stake—when highland wage interests are at hazard, I repeat that in such a crisis friends must not be allowed to divide upon questions respecting men, so as to defeat or endanger all their dearest objects. What we now do we cannot undo. We do it at once, and we do it for our generation—perhaps forever. And so much for all our highest interests, our truest prosperity, and our best hopes depend on having this work well done, that I say once more—I say it from the very bottom of my heart—I say it with the most profound conviction of its importance—brethren of the same principles must not be allowed to differ with regard to men."

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, August 10.

In the Senate. The usual opening business having been gone through with, several reports and resolutions upon various matters were presented, after which the Senate took up and proceeded to the consideration of the bill for the construction of a ship canal around the Falls of St. Mary's.

Mr. Cass addressed the Senate in favor of the project.

Mr. Cass concluded his speech upon the bill for the construction of a canal around the falls of St. Mary, in which he showed the inestimable importance of such a road.

Mr. Underwood followed in support of the bill. Messrs. Butler and Mason spoke in opposition. Mr. Dawson also opposed it.

Mr. Toucey's amendment was then adopted.

Mr. Bell renewed his objections to the consideration of this bill in advance and to the exclusion of the multitude of other works of similar character, and as necessary as this for purposes of defence. He desired that action on it should be postponed till after the River and Harbor Bill was considered. This might be added to that bill. He moved this bill be postponed.

Mr. Cass said that the River and Harbor bill would pass if a proper and reasonable one. He would vote for it.

Mr. Bell repeated his objections to this bill.

After some further debate, Mr. Badger moved to reconsider the vote adopting Mr. Toucey's amendment.

The question being taken on Mr. Toucey's amendment, Mr. Butler said that if this was war measure, he could not consent to give it up to Michigan.

Mr. Toucey's amendment was rejected—yeas 23, nays 28.

The bill now stood simply granting land to Michigan to aid in constructing the canal.

Mr. Bell's amendment, to substitute an appropriation of 400,000 instead of 600,000 acres of land, was lost—yeas 21, nays 32.

Pending an amendment to the original bill increasing the number to 700,000 acres, the Senate adjourned.

In the House. Mr. Durkee, by general consent occupied the attention of the House for the hour, in a personal explanation in reply to charges which had been made against him a few days since by Mr. Aiken, of South Carolina.

The bill in reference to the Wheeling Bridge at Pt. Rhoads was taken up. Mr. Millson of Va. concluded his speech in favor of the bill.

Mr. Disney of Ohio, followed and spoke on the same side until the expiration of the hour.

Mr. Fuller, from the Committee on Commerce, reported back the Senate bill for the better security of the lives of passengers on board of steamboats, and on his motion, the amendments of the committee were ordered to be printed, and the further consideration of the subject was postponed until Thursday next.

The bill granting land to the various States for the benefit of the indigent insane was taken up, and several amendments adopted. The bill now provides that 10,000,000 acres of land shall be appropriated to the several States in compound ratios of the geographical area and representation of each in the House of Representatives, according to the census of 1840; provided, the area of no State shall be computed at more than 50,000 square miles; the lands shall not be sold at higher rate per acre than the present minimum price, and are subject to the right of pre-emption; land thus granted remaining unsold for 20 years, to revert to the United States; the expenses and management of the lands to be paid by the States respectively, or that the entire proceeds of sale of said lands shall be applied without any diminution for the maintenance and support of the

BANGOR AIR-TIGHT COOKING STOVE!

THE best Cook Stove ever introduced to this or any other people.

Having secured the sole agency of this very durable Stove, I take great pleasure in offering it to my customers and the public. This Stove was invented expressly for this eastern market, by the experienced and expert Stove manufacturers' Messrs. Eastes & Whittier, who know, and are appreciated the wants of this enlightened people. It is now offered to the public with the fullest confidence in its merits, and its superiority over every other Cooking apparatus ever introduced. Its conveniences for Boiling, Broiling, Frying, &c., are not surpassed, and its extensive and beautiful Oven for Baking and Roasting, will at once recommend itself to the Ladies. One very important feature is, it has very stout and smooth castings, and being manufactured in this city, can at all times be repaired, if ever necessary, at a trifling expense, without subjecting one to wait for castings to be ordered from New York, Rhode Island, or elsewhere. Every Stove is warranted one year, and one not giving entire satisfaction may be returned and the money will be refunded after 30 days trial.

Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th Sec. of Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the Agency for the transmission of Models, and adopted a more expeditious mode of sending the same to the Patent Office, whereby Patents may be procured about six weeks earlier than continues to forward them free of charge—to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents; and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting Patents. Patents secured in European and other countries.

By application at this office, inventors are saved the time and expense of a journey to Washington and delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. They also have the advantage of verbally explaining their inventions, and if considered in respect to them, matters in general, of paramount importance in order to obtain correct specifications and claims. The experience of fifteen years' practice, an extensive collection of rare works, decisions, &c. on mechanical subjects, the Patent laws, and patents of different countries, collected at much cost, expressly for this agency, together with the best facilities established together with frequent personal consultations with the Commissioner of Patents, enable the subscriber to afford to inventors, advice as to procuring Patents, assistance and information which in other respects might be difficult of attainment.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

WASHINGTON, JULY 21, 1849.—During the time I occupied the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. EDDY, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as Solicitor for procuring Patents. There was few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring Inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them the broadest and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

☞ Ladies waited upon by Mrs. Caroline D Foster at the above place.

The following certificate from Dr. John C. Warren of Boston, was given 15 years ago, but will last forever.

Boston, January 7, 1833.

Having had occasion to observe, that some persons afflicted with Hernia have suffered much from the want of a skilful workman in accommodating Trusses to the peculiarities of the case, I have taken pains to inform myself of the competency of Mr. J. F. Foster, to supply the deficiency occasioned by the death of Mr. Heath. After some months of observation of his work, I am well satisfied that Mr. Foster is well acquainted with the manufacture of these instruments, and ingenious in accommodating them to the variety of cases which occur. I feel called upon to recommend him to my professional brethren in the public and persons well fitted to supply, in regard to these instruments.

JOHN C. WARREN, M. D. Boston.

CERTIFICATE. The following certificate is from Professor Stuart, of Andover Theological Seminary.

The undersigned having occasion to employ Mr. J. Frederick Foster, of Boston, in making and fitting Trusses for the relief of Hernia, takes great pleasure in recommending him to the favorable notice of such persons, as may be afflicted with that and similar complaints. Mr. Foster's cleverness in the manufacture, and adapting them to the body, giving ease and comfort to the wearer, surpass (as far as our experience goes,) any other manufacturer of the article.

The numerous testimonials which he has received together with the recommendations of that eminent surgeon, Dr. J. C. Warren, are sufficient, (we apprehend,) for all who may fall under his instrument, and he will give entire satisfaction, and he will satisfy all reasonable demands for an equitable compensation.

Of all the numerous remedies now before the public for the cure of Pulmonary diseases, but few have ever been found to possess the power to cure, and of these few the most valuable is, and has been for many years, Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. In the cure of all diseases of the throat and lungs, it is unrivalled, and is the only remedy that can be relied on with confidence, when the life of a child is in danger. Parents should not be without it. Under the directions and advice of Physicians, who have used it in their practice, it has performed wonders in the cure of Consumption, which, in its first stages, it will surely cure. Even in the last stages of the disease, when all other remedies and medical skill have failed, this wonderful antidote will generally give relief. Thousands, who have been given over by their friends as incurable, have been restored to perfect health by the use of this medicine, and many now living in every section of the country, can certify to the public the value of its wonderful virtues in the most obstinate cases of Pulmonary Complaints.

Dr. J. C. Ayer—

Dear Sir: Feeling that my professional career should be crowned with success, I graduated at the age of twenty-one, and commenced the practice of medicine. I soon found the alarming fact developed itself that I was in the first stages of Consumption, and that my days were numbered. I resorted to the best medical skill I could obtain, but in a few weeks time was reduced so low that I was unable to ride out. I then commenced using your Cherry Pectoral, by the use of which, and the use of no other medicine, I was restored to perfect health. I have since been in the practice of my profession, and have used your Cherry Pectoral in my own family, and in my practice, with the most perfect confidence in its virtues as a remedy for Pulmonary diseases. I consider it the best medicine in the world for the cure of Consumption, and all diseases of the throat and lungs, and shall continue to use it as such.

Yours truly, J. S. GRIFFIN, M. D.

Waterville, Me., Dec. 1, 1851.

See what it has done, and is daily doing, in the following cases:

Dr. J. C. Ayer—Sir: The most distressing case of Throat and Lung disease that has come under my observation in my practice, was that of Mrs. Sarah Ann Dutton, of this town. She was brought to the very verge of the grave by Consumption, and was pronounced by her physicians incurable. She was induced to try your Cherry Pectoral, and, to the surprise of all who knew her, she began to recover from the first dose she took, and has now entirely recovered her health. Her case is considered by all who knew her as little short of a miracle.

Yours, truly, ELIJAH WOODMAN.
